Could you imagine a world without plastic bottles?
We are building the digitised & decentralised beverage infrastructure of tomorrow. We enable a sustainable, D2C, and personalisable drinking experience by producing beverages at the point of use, including your office, university, or airport. By further developing existing technologies, a single machine can save up to 4.5 tons of CO2 and 51.000 bottles in a 70 people office.

ABOUT US
We are two founders with extensive experience in hardware- and business development

Adrian studied European Studies in Maastricht and during his studies successfully restructured and co-founded a company. (LinkedIn)
Eberhard holds an MSc degree in Robotics from ETH Zurich. He is experienced in hardware development through various industry jobs and through his Harvard Research Fellowship (LinkedIn)
