OUR STORY

Alexander and Julian, two of our Co-Founders, made first-hand experiences in private equity and strategy consulting, e.g. at McKinsey. Thus, they know the hustle of deal sourcing. By utilizing the gained experience, we want to make the life of analysts easier and help them to free work capacity.

How we do it? With our FinTech we are building the new generation of market research software. Our tool enables financial analysts identify new investment opportunities, screen markets and understand companies with just one click. Our machine learning solution enables analysts to concentrate on value creating tasks.

What happened? Within the last year we not only secured the financing of our company, got backup by UnternehmerTUM, MIT (USA), EXIST and also operated as a tech-enabled consultancy for private equity firms in Munich. Just now, we are launching our software and want you to be part of it!
