

WE WANT YOU

CCT University

What is the CCT University?

The Customer Centric Transformation University is your individual trainee program at PwC. Join us now and gain consulting knowledge, skills and experience with tools and - all with deep insights into areas of Customer Centric Transformation. By the end of the trainee program, you will “graduate” with two Salesforce or SAP certifications.

You choose your career!

What we offer you

You will receive a customised, three-month fundamental consulting training that optimally prepares you for your new career path with a focus on Customer Centric Transformation. In our training you will get to know agile working methods, project setups and customer communication, all around the topics of technical implementations, business processes and management consulting. In addition, you will broaden your professional network by meeting and closely working together with your new colleagues who are going through the same program - this makes it easier to build your network right from the beginning despite today's challenging times.
