

The project study

We are offering an exciting project study students interested in Full stack development with React , Java Spring Hibernate and PostgreSQL. The project study duration is 3 months for full-time participants or 6 months for those who prefer part-time involvement.

The company

Parabella is an AI startup from Technical University of Munich that specializes in supporting companies with the implementation of sustainability reporting (CSRD).Our mission is to make the complex requirements of EU sustainability reporting understandable and easy accessible. We aim to make the business world run greener.

Content of project study

Frontend Development creating an UI and UX for our software landscape in the area of sustainability

Build a scalable Backend with Java Spring Hibernate and PostgreSQL

Gain experience in enterprise level software development

Benefits

Undertake responsible tasks with significant autonomy.

Experience a steep learning curve, providing opportunities for professional growth.

Join us and collaborate directly with and learn from the founding team

Eligibility Criteria

Enrollment at the Technical University of Munich is required

Ideal team size is between 1 to 5 candidates.

Preferred candidates are those in the late semesters of their Master's or Bachelor's programs.

Interested to join our team?

Send us your CV, a short motivation letter, your suitable starting date and team setup to info@parabella.de www.parabella.de